Fifth District Rep. Steny Hoyer Responds to Constituent Questions

by Barbara Likowski

A standing-room-only crowd, most of them Greenbelters, greeted 5th District Congressman Steny Hoyer at Greenbelt's city hall Monday night. The occasion was Hoyer's third town meeting, a series of meetings geared toward providing a means for Hoyer and his constituents to get to know one another and for giving citizens a chance to present their views, questions and concerns.

Citizens were asked to write their questions. These were read by News Review editor Mary Lou Williamson and Hoyer answered them in turn. This method enabled the congressman to answer more questions and the meeting moved rapidly from one issue to another. However it was not possible to determine how many people were interested in any one issue nor was it possible to ask follow-up questions.

The questions about the county council redistricting which were the concern of most Greenbelters present - - and which had brought out the entire City Council and the city's representatives in state legislature - - were discussed only briefly. The fact that many Greenbelters see their district as gerrymandered was not mentioned. Beginning with state districting, Hoyer said he would like to see a Greenbelt representative in the state legislature. As to the county council, Hoyer was empathetic about Greenbelt's belief that under the plan it would not be represented on the county council. On the other hand, he pointed out that he had received a number of calls from other jurisdictions concerned that change in the plan might be detrimental to their interests.

One of the early plans, Hoyer commented, put seven members of the council in two districts. "It is only human nature," he said for the council to reject that.

What Hoyer did do was to talk and write to Parris Glendening, chairman of the county council. He informed Glendening that the members of the 24th state legislative district, the mayor, council and citizens of Greenbelt had requested that he inform Glendening that Greenbelt did not approve of the 4th councilmanic district as planned. He asked the chairman to transmit this information to the other council members. Hoyer said he feels Glendening understands Greenbelt's concerns and is sympathetic. (Hoyer's letter to Glendening is reprinted on page 2.)

Post Office

As a member of the house of representatives post office and civil service committee, Hoyer assured questioners that he intends to serve in the role of advocate to help his many constituents who are federal workers. This metropolitan area, he said has suffered the most drastic rifts in the nation. He spoke of his concerns for the job security of federal workers who are receiving a 30% reduction on health benefits and have had one cost of living (COL) increase per year eliminated. Besides the health cuts there is the possibility that the "open seasons" (a once a year period when federal workers have been free to consider options available and change their health plan if they chose, was considered being cut. The house cuts came about because of a $440 million dollar mistake in how much health benefits were going to cost and the need to make up for that mistake.

To questions on whether he will oppose the change to five mail deliveries per week and increase postage, Hoyer informed people that there will be hearings on those issues next year. His mail, he added, reflects both views. Now that the post office has been made a quasi-private agency, Postmaster Ray Bolger has tried to set up the agency so that it can meet its own cost, something that has never been done.

Post Office Moves

Greenbelt's new post office opened on Monday, October 19. It is located under the Co-op grocery store, at 119 Centerway. The lobby entrance can be reached from the north parking lot behind the grocery store, or by the outdoor stairs from the rear of the Center Mall. Handicapped and elderly persons can also reach the new facility from the Mall by using the sloping sidewalk around the Medical Building.

The post office has a new phone number: 344-4355.

County Design for Major Throughway Through Greenbelt Shot Down by Council

by Bill Rowland

During its regular meeting on October 19, the Greenbelt City Council again considered a proposed amendment to the General Plan for Prince Georges County, together with recommendations prepared by the city's Advisory Planning Board. Council agreed with most of the APB findings, but refused to go along with the view that changes in the oft-repeated proposal for an "inter-county connector" would now make such a highway acceptable to Greenbelt. The APB recommendations, as amended and adopted by the council, have been sent to the chairmen of the county council and the county planning board.

The proposed General Plan amendment is a draft published by the staff of the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission. If adopted, it would amend the 1964 "Wedges and Corridors" General Plan and would provide development through a "trafficked/watershed" concept, whereby the public facilities needed in an area would be identified before development could take place there. The last proposed amendment, in 1977, was not adopted.

Highway Rejected

The inter-county connector started its on-paper existence some years ago as a projected "Outer Beltway". Despite repeated rebuffs, highway planners have persisted in keeping the idea alive, more recently as an inter-county expressway or freeway with its eastern end anchored to the Baltimore-Washington Parkway. The current draft amendment would downgrade the highway to "arterial" status, and would have it continue eastward to Route 301.

The APB concluded that with these changes, the proposed highway now could be accepted by the city. At the same time, APB opposed another feature of the draft which would have Kenilworth Avenue extended northward to serve as an expressway link between the inter-county route and the Beltway. The board explained its stand not in terms of impact on the city, but rather because "heavy truck traffic through the Agricultural Research Center should be discouraged."

"What Co-operation Means To Me" Is Well Expressed By Greenbelt Students

by Dennis Lewis

October has been Co-op Month. This is particularly important to Greenbelt because its history has been intertwined with cooperation; over a dozen cooperatives serve the Greenbelt community. Co-op Month was celebrated with a series of activities which culminated at the Co-op Month Poster and Essay Contest Awards Assembly held Saturday, October 24 at Center School. The Assembly featured door prizes donated by the various co-ops to promote the value of cooperation.

Tina Horsman, age 11, in the sixth grade of Center School won first place in the Essay Contest. Her topic was "Co-ops Mean Co-operation — This is What Cooperation Means to Me." Jenny Searle was second with "My Experience in a Co-op Housing Unit," Monica Hensel, third, "My Experience in the Co-op Supermarket," Jonathan Polanin, fourth, "What Cooperation Means to Me." In the Poster Contest, Betty Seidman's Class A of the Greenbelt Nursery School won first place with an 8x3 foot group effort entitled "Different Strokes for Different Folks — But We All Have to Co-op Together." Michael Cook, age 6, won second place; Deana James' Class B of the Nursery School, third; Hal Schuelka, age 8, fourth, and Aimee Lynn Heller, age 8, fifth.

The ideas behind "October is Co-op Month" were best described by the impressive number of local youngsters who participated in the poster/essay contests. "To me cooperation means doing something as a 'we' and not as an I (T. Horemán); "The great thing about the co-op housing units is that you always have friends around you. If you are in need of anything, such as stick of butter for a recipe, you have warm, friendly people to help you out." (J. Searle); "... a co-op means a sharing, caring organization for the people of Greenbelt." (M. Hensel); "People are not the only ones to cooperate. Fish in a school cooperate with each other for the common benefit — protection. A deer herd is the same way — except they stay together for food. When man was created, he realized a need to cooperate with others."

Winning Essay

In Co-op Contest

"Co-ops Mean Cooperation— This is What Co-operation Means to Me.

by Tina Horsman (age 11)

To me cooperation means doing something as a "we" not an "I". It means sharing a responsibility with others and getting it done as a group without a lot of fighting. Co-operation is people working well together and treating each other as equals. Everyone is given a say in things when they're cooperating.

(J. Polanin).

All participants in the contests received a certificate, Co-op button, balloons and treats. The winners received cooperative (of course) table games. These games, made by a small, family business called "FAMILY PASTIMES, emphasize players working together, sharing resources and skills, in order to overcome the obstacles of the games. Players join forces building "Our Town," collecting all the crops at "Harvest Time," or protecting the environment in "Earth Game."

The central theme of Co-op Month could not be expressed any clearer than Kim Kash's statement, "Greenbelt couldn't survive without cooperation, or for that matter, no city or town could. We all have to cooperate in order to live the kind of life we live. . . Cooperation is so important to our society, though many people don't realize it. Maybe this month, Co-op Month, more people will."

Lombardi Calls For The Adoption Of Public-Supported Ennis Plan

Prince Georges County Councilmember Ann Landry Lombardi has introduced a bill, CB-175-1981, calling for adoption of the Redistricting Commission's Minority (Ennis) Plan. A public hearing on the plan has been scheduled for Thursday, November 19 at 9 a.m. in the hearing room of the County Administration Building.

The Redistricting Commission held hearings throughout the county to receive public comment on four separate proposals. The Minority, or Ennis Plan, received the most favorable testimony and was amended to accommodate concerns expressed

Although the Majority Plan submitted to the county council received support of three commission members, it had not been developed in the open forum of the previous plans and exceeds constitutional guidelines for population variance.

According to Lombardi, CB-175 would "create nine districts that are within acceptable population ranges, that would be compact and would group citizens and areas which have a commonality of interest."

Lombardi is particularly concerned that the Majority Plan groups Upper Marlboro and Greenbelt with Bowie. The county council has received overwhelming testimony from Greenbelt citizens expressing their strenuous objections to being included in a district with Bowie which they do not regard as sharing their concerns and interests. The Upper Marlboro area shares significant concerns about land use and development with the rural South County.

The Minority Plan addresses these concerns of Greenbelt and the Marlboro area. It meets, as well, other constitutional requirements for fair and equal representation in the new council districts which will be in effect until 1994.

"Council Bill 175 continues the open process of balancing the needs of all the county citizens," states its sponsor.

Greenbelt Rejects Gerrymander

Massachusetts - 1812

Prince Georges - 1981

OPEN LETTER

The Honorable Farris Glendening County Council Chairman County Administration Building Upper Marlboro, Maryland 20772 Dear Parris,

As we all know, redistricting is one of the most difficult processes a legislative body must undertake. There are always tough decisions to be made while attempting to maintain fairness and equity for all areas.

However, I wanted you to know that my office has been contacted a number of times regarding the proposed 4th Councilmanic District. I sympathize with fears expressed by many citizens of the City of Greenbelt that the proposed makeup would allow Bowie to dominate the District and consequently overwhelm the interests of their city.

I'm certain you are also aware that the officials of the City of Greenbelt are very concerned about the pending redistricting proposal. I share their concerns, as I am certain you do, and hope you will give this matter your attention as you begin to address this difficult problem.

Thank you for your consideration of this letter.

On Golden Pond

by Corinne Comulada

Ernest Thompson's play "On Golden Pond" is Utopia Theatre's current offering to Greenbelt. Produced by special arrangement with Dramatists Play Service and directed by Joseph R. Morley, the two-act play concerns a family whose summers are spent at Golden Pond, Maine.

Norman and Ethel Thayer arrive at Golden Pond, Maine.

Charlie Martin, the mailman, brings them up to date on happenings in the area during the past winter. Their daughter, Chelsea, visits, accompanied by her boyfriend, Bill Ray and his son, Billy. Norman meets his match in young Billy, whose innocent outward appearance betrays his street-wise vocabulary.

Chelsea and Bill leave for Europe, leaving Billy in the Thayer's care. Norman teaches the boy to fish; the old man and the slick kid strike up a lasting love for each other.

Charles K. Bortell is a completely wonderful Norman. He injects a great deal of life into the role of the grouchy, infuriating octogenarian Ethel is played with great skill by Betty Rae Romney. She has worked backstage as well.

Neil Edgell, with his Maine accent and contagious laugh, is perfect as mailman Charlie Martin. Jane Edgell projects much of her professional experience into the role of Chelsea. An aspiring play director, Jane is also skilled in props, makeup and other backstage work.

Colin Mendenhall is a natural as Billy Bill Ray is convincingly portrayed by Craig Mooring, a veteran of three earlier Utopia productions.

The set is well constructed with designs by Tom Schreiber. Attention is immediately focused on the center-stage fireplace. Ruffled curtains and comfortable furniture lend honey touches. Scene changes were carried out quietly and efficiently.

Utopia's production of "On Golden Pond," with special efforts by Karl Knoll and the Maryland State Arts Council, is competently produced and carried out by top-flight staff members and performers. It is definitely worth seeing and will be featured again Friday, Oct. 30 and Saturday, Oct. 31 at 8:15 p.m. A matinee performance will be given on Sunday, Nov. 1, at 2:30 p.m.

Saturday night, firemen and policemen will receive a discount. Additionally, transportation will be provided by the Greenbelt Jaycees for the Sunday matinee. To arrange for such transportation, call Konrad Herling at 632-3894, 345-9369, or at the theatre, 474-7763.

Interpretation for Deaf Offered for City Meetings

The City of Greenbelt has made arrangements with several persons to provide sign interpretation for any city meeting-program function upon request in advance. Any hearing impaired citizen who wishes to attend a meeting of the City Council, or any other city meeting, program or function may arrange for an interpreter to be present by writing or otherwise contacting the City Manager's Office, 25 Crescent Road, Greenbelt, Maryland 20770. This service is offered without charge, but is limited only to the activities and functions of the Greenbelt City Government.

GHI NOTES

On October 29 at 8 p.m. in the GHI Board Room, the GHI Board of Directors will hold its second session on the 1982 proposed budget. A membership briefing on the 1982 budget will be held Thursday, November 5 at 8 p.m. in the Greenbelt City Council Chambers.

Now that cold weather has arrived, GHI suggests that members bleed outside hose bibs to prevent freezing pipe. The outside hose bib (outside faucets) can be bled by closing the valve under the sink which controls the outside hose bib and then opening the valve on the outside hose bib. Leave the valve open until warm weather returns. For questions call 474-2300 or 474-6011.

Approximate rehab schedule next week is plumbing at 8 court Plateau Oct. 30-Nov. 3 and 10 court Plateau Nov. 4-9. Also vinyl siding work, including stripping shingles, will be done, weather permitting, at 36 (A-K), 38, 42 (E-M), and 44 (A-F) courts Ridge.

Rehab plumbing work includes replacing areas of drywall which had to be removed to install pipes. If marlite or ceramic tile was removed, GHIDC will install gold or white metal flake tiles in damaged areas. If the tile is not replaced within one month of plumbing work on the unit, members should contact GHIDC (474-2300).

Louise Egbers is a new part-time employee who serves as both cashier and purchasing clerk. Previously, she worked for Flaherty Brothers in the District of Columbia.

The Staff Architect's Office has discovered that a number of additions, particularly service-side additions with gabled roofs, have been and are being built without the required approvals. Inspections are taking place to ensure that all additions have approval and conform to GHI standards.

GHI President James Smith, Smith, General Manager Tim Mitter, and Assistant General Manager Shekar Narasimhan attended the National Association of Housing Cooperatives annual conference October 15-18 in Detroit.

Geneological Society Tells How to Use the Cemetery

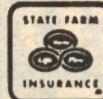

The mystery of "The Stone Link: Use of Cemetery Records" will be revealed at the Wednesday, November 4 meeting of the Prince Georges County Geneological Society at 7:30 p.m. in the Greenbelt Library. The speaker will be James W. Reep, C.G.R.S., who is also a member and current treasurer of the Society.

"Won't be many more warm, sunny days like this," said the woman sitting next to me on a bench in the Center.

"That's why I'm sitting here," I answered, "When I really should be home doing the dishes."

"Dishes" she exclaimed, "Let me tell you about dishes! The lady I work for just got a new set you wouldn't believe."

"Really? Are they different?," I asked.

"You better believe they're different. Custom made, with a red border, and I don't know how many place settings. Don't know why she wanted them, they have maybe ten thousand dishes already," she told me.

I stared at her in awe. "You don't work at the White House, do you," I ventured.

"Yes," she acknowledged, "And my lady's real nice, but she sure does have fancy tastes."

"I've heard," I told her, "Do you ever see her husband?"

"Sure," she said. "He's real nice and no trouble, except he does mark up my nice shiny floors with his cowboy boots."

"It must be exciting working in a place like that," I suggested.

"It's a lot of work. Like with those new dishes. They all had to be washed, and she didn't really need them. But like she said, she couldn't serve her guests on plastic plates."

"Certainly not. Maybe she could get rid of the old china at a yard sale," I said facetiously.

"That's a real good idea," my benchmate said enthusiastically. "She could advertise in the News Review."

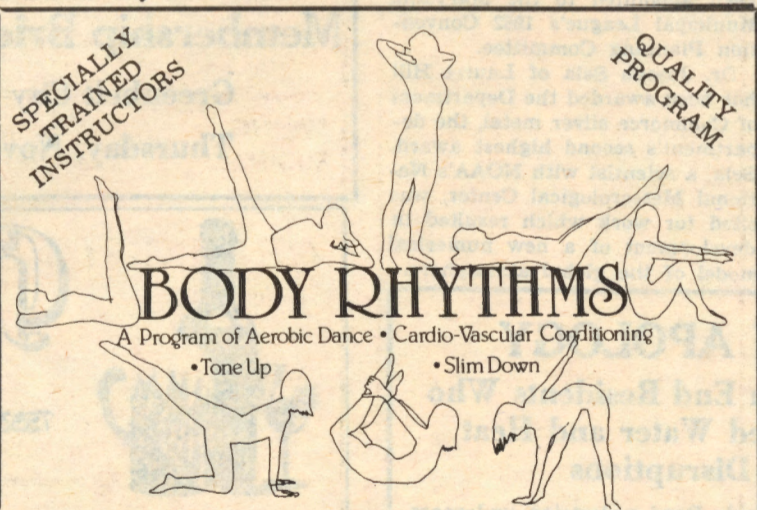

"I hardly think she would come to Greenbelt," I giggled.

"But that's where she lives," my companion said, looking at me with a puzzled expression.

"You told me you work at the White House," I reminded her.

"I do," she agreed. "That white house over there on Crescent Road. You can just see it through those trees."

"Oh," I said in a small voice. "You'll have to excuse me now, I have to go home and do some dishes."

tion at the Utopia Theater in 1981. For information call 345-3516 or 345-4487 evenings.

Hoyer also came out against cuts in Social Security and Medicare and cutting the CETA jobs training program. Of local interest he would oppose commercial development of portions of the agricultural research center land.

Also he was for . . . the ERA amendment, a firearms reform bill (including a mandatory waiting period before a gun can be purchased and banning importation of parts of handguns) and the release of former Governor Marvin Mandel. Mandel, he pointed out, had served a longer percentage of his sentence than any of the Watergate offenders.

Part of Hoyer's program consisted of educating the audience about procedures of the House of Representatives. He introduced his staff and encouraged people to visit or call his district office when they need help and information. The district office is now located at the New Carrollton Metro station; phone, 436-5511.

AN APOLOGY To North End Residents Who Suffered Water and Heat Disruptions

In order to construct the new Hillside Road pedestrian underpass, it was necessary to temporarily cut off water on a pipe on Hillside Road. The contractor notified the City, Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission (WSSC) and Greenbelt Homes, Inc. (GHI) in advance and all homes expected to be affected were notified in advance. Unfortunately, when the water was turned off, service to numerous additional homes on Research Road and other parts of the North End experienced disruption as well. This is due to unknown problems in the water distribution system. By the time the extent of the problem became apparent, it was too late to stop construction work until the necessary work was complete. The WSSC will be checking out the water distribution system to see why unforeseen areas of the North End lost water service when the valves were closed, and will make appropriate corrections. The City regrets the inconvenience caused to all residents who suffered temporary disruption of water service, or heat, and extends a special apology to those residents who were unexpectedly inconvenienced due to lack of notice. The City thanks the management and employees of GHI for the full cooperation extended to the City on this matter and regrets that GHI employees were required to handle the bulk of resident complaints as a result of City construction activity.

Original Greenbelt Furniture Donated

The City has received a significant donation of original Greenbelt furniture. The donation was made by Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Pearson, Jr. in memory of Mr. Pearson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Pearson, Sr. who were original residents of Greenbelt and resided at 2-M Gardenway.

The furniture consists of a complete living room suite, dining room suite, and two bedroom suites together with a number of miscellaneous pieces. Most of the furniture was WPA (Work Projects Administration) furniture, manufactured by private companies at the order of the federal government and sold by the government in Greenbelt and other places. The furniture donated is primarily made of maple and is believed to have been manufactured in Michigan. An oak desk was probably manufactured in West Virginia.

Former Public Works Director, A. S. "Buddy" Attick, worked for the federal government during the early years under Wallace Mabry, Assistant Government Manager for the project. One of Mr. Mabry's responsibilities was the management of the furniture sale operation, and Attick helped to deliver the furniture that was sold in Greenbelt.

The furniture was sold from one of the store spaces in the original Greenbelt shopping center. That space is now occupied by the Ben Franklin Variety Store. One of two metal warehouses which were used for the storage of construction materials while Greenbelt was being built was used for furniture storage. Residents were permitted to pick up one kind of furniture in their homes and Attick and another employee, Ernest Walker, were frequently called upon to pick up one kind of furniture in exchange for another. Payment for furniture could be financed. The two metal sheds were later relocated to another part of the City and became the garage space of Public Works Department vehicles until the State Highway Department acquired the property and the City built its present Public Works facility.

It is Attick's understanding that Eleanor Roosevelt took a special interest in the design of the furniture. Since she was involved with two friends in a cottage furniture manufacturing business at Hyde Park at about the same time, it is quite logical that she would be very much interested. Attick believes that the furniture was probably made available throughout the country to low income families who received assistance and was not made exclusively for the green towns.

Many people in Greenbelt hope that some day a museum can be established containing material about the original Greenbelt planned community and the way of life of the early residents. This museum might be set up in one or more of the original Greenbelt homes. If such a museum is established, this furniture would be used to furnish rooms in the museum. In the meantime, some of the furniture will be stored, some will be placed in the Rexford Guy Tugwell Room of the Greenbelt Library and some will be placed in the Greenbelt Municipal Building.

Previously, the City accepted a donation of original Greenbelt bedroom furniture from Carnie Harper, a long-time Greenbelt resident.

City Urges Fair Shake In MNCPPC Budget

Speaking at a hearing before the Prince Georges County Planning Board on October 22, City Manager James K. Giese read a prepared statement on behalf of Greenbelt's city council concerning the forthcoming Planning Board Budget. The parent organization — the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission — is currently preparing its budget for the next fiscal year, which begins July 1, 1982.

Giese noted that MNCPPC "conducts a number of programs of special interest to the City of Greenbelt." He said the city council urges commission members "to support the continued and increased funding of these recreation and planning program activities."

According to Giese, during the present fiscal year Greenbelters will pay, as part of their county property taxes, about $125,000 to MNCPPC for recreational, land acquisition, and administrative purposes. But the current MNCPPC budget shows that only $26,021 is to be spent on recreational programming in the city. Said Giese, "Greenbelters are receiving a return of only about 21 cents on the tax dollar." He continued: "In this era of 'TRIM' in the county, the pressure to reduce or hold the line on spending levels will be great. Areas like Greenbelt, with established and wide-ranging recreation programs, will be looked upon as areas where cuts can be made, since program and service disruptions would be less visible. However, while the local requirements of 'TRIM' do not directly apply to municipalities, we nevertheless do feel its effect. (MNCPPC recreation programming to city residents is a necessary and important service, which I urge you to increase . . . Greenbelt taxpayers are entitled to a better rate of return on their tax dollars."

Although commenting favorably on MNCPPC's planning activities, Giese cautioned that "when funding dollars are short, planning programs, along with leisure-time services, are all too often looked to as the services to be cut."

Speaking as the representative "of a community that enjoys the fruits of proper planning — while at the same time suffering the ills of the lack of proper planning," Giese urged that planning activities not be reduced. He went on to ask particular support for two activities of importance to Greenbelt: Completion of the sectional map amendment for the Greenbelt/College Park area "... a developing area of the county with an old plan long overdue for revision and update . . ."; and special planning studies such as the Greenbelt Commercial Center revitalization study funded and carried out by MNCPPC this past fiscal year and feasibility studies of uses for North End School and of an intra-city bikeway, both funded for the present fiscal year. Giese told the planning board that the planning activity "is useful for municipalities which do not have the staff or expertise to do special studies which can be undertaken utilizing planning board staff."

Happy 84th Birthday

Mrs. Otilie Norris of Green Ridge House celebrated her 84th birthday with four generations of her family, all Greenbelt residents, present at a surprise party at her daughter, Alverta Shanahan's home on Westway. The day started with a greeting from President and Mrs. Reagan.

Attending the party were granddaughter, Margie Brunatti, great-granddaughters Donna and Debbie, grandson Patrick, and son Ryan, all from Greenbelt, former Greenbelters Jim Shanahan and wife Bernadine, and daughter Christie, and granddaughter Kathy Hollidge, former Greenbelt, and her friend Terry. Mrs. Amelia Avesser, Mrs. Norris's sister from Baltimore, shared in the celebration, also.

After a buffet, an evening was spent talking and looking at pictures of the "good old days" when they were growing up in Greenbelt. Larry Shanahan, son-in-law, took over the kitchen duty so the rest of the family could relax and enjoy the day.

Police Blotter

compiled by Mavis Fletcher

Five juveniles were detained on October 26 in connection with the theft of an auto stolen from Berwyn Heights and recovered in Springhill Lake. The auto keys allegedly had been obtained during a breaking and entering.

Det. Terrence M. McGrath charged an adult and three juveniles in a breaking and entering which occurred in the 9100 block of Edmonston Road on October 19.

A 1981 Cadillac Coupe de Ville was stolen from Capitol Cadillac on October 19. The car is dark blue with white pinstriping, with Virginia registration XHW 488.

Pfc. David R. Kress arrested two male suspects for breaking into a Springhill Lake apartment.

Officer Gregory E. Lynn arrested a nonresident male juvenile for unauthorized use of an auto. The incident took place on October 20 and the arrest was made after a high-speed chase which started on Centerway and ended on East-West Highway, just east of Route 1.

On October 21 at 4:05 p.m. there was a case of indecent exposure on the Lake path near the Pepco substation.

Pfc. Mark A. DiPietro arrested a suspect in the Beltway Plaza for assault and disorderly conduct.

Col. John A. Lann arrested two male suspects for stealing plants from plantings in the Greenway Shopping Center.

8 Year Old Soccer Team

by Sue Cornelius

The 8 year Soccer team won their last two games—2-0 against College Park, with Adrian Tapley scoring both goals late in the second half. Goalie John Stringfellow made a beautiful save on a direct penalty kick, keeping College Park scoreless. On October 25, Jonathan Schachter scored both goals for a 2-1 victory over Hyattsville. Adrian Tapley assisted on one goal in spite of the playing conditions; it was wet, cold and miserable! Greenbelt still played an outstanding game!

Sean Farrell as goalie in the first half made several impressive saves, punching the ball away from the goal.

Because of this win and because Cheverly tied Hyattsville, Greenbelt is in first place by two points.

Next game is against second place Cheverly this Sunday at Braden Field at 2 p.m. Come and watch this team in its efforts to maintain first place.

As a group project the team is selling memberships to Washington Soccer, Inc. This not-for-profit grass roots organization headed by Gordon Bradley, former Diplomats coach and Paul Cornel, No. 9 of the Diplomats, hopes to keep professional soccer in Washington, D.C., with local ownership by the people. Contact Sue Cornelius, 345-6081 for more information.

White Objects

Councilman Thomas White stated flatly that he would not support any report to county officials which accepts either an inter-county connector by any name, or an extension of Kenilworth Avenue. White said the aim of these two proposals would be to funnel traffic through Greenbelt to the Beltway. He noted that just two weeks before, County Executive Lawrence Hogan had "boasted" that in intercounty connector is a vital part of his plan for routing traffic through the county.

The subsequent letter from Mayor Richard Castaldi to the county council and planning board chairmen, presenting the unanimous views of the city council, asked that both highway projections be deleted, because "these two proposed highways would adversely impact upon the Greenbelt area, which already serves as the major crossroad of major highways in the northern county."

The letter to the county officials also forwarded additional comments on the proposed General Plan amendment, as recommended by APB and agreed with by council. Proposals to keep the Agricultural Research Center as an open space area, and to complete the 101-mile Metrorail system (and in particular the "E" route to Greenbelt) were both supported by city council.

Council continued to endorse, as it has in the past, the proposed use of mandatory dedication as a means to increase park and open space land without direct public cost. Council also recommended that procedures be improved so that more land will actually be dedicated as park and open space, with less acceptance of fees in lieu of such dedication.

Finally, council endorsed the trafficked/watershed concept as 'a more reasonable approach to development,' which "should result in a more efficient allocation of public facility expenditures and in the channeling of funds not only to developing areas but to developed areas as well."

APB Takes No Bull; Hopes El Torito Sign Will Fade

The city's Advisory Planning Board at the regular council meeting on October 19 has recommended against the proposed free-standing sign for the El Torito's Restaurant, now under construction in the Greenway Shopping Center. On the request of representatives for the restaurant, however, council has deferred action on the matter till a later meeting. But council members did not hesitate to take action at the same meeting on the subject of Community Development Block Grant funds.

by Bill Rowland

El Torito's Sign

El Torito's has applied to the county for a permit to erect a free-standing sign 7½-feet tall, to be locate adjacent to Greenbelt Road. The application has been referred to the city for comment. The Advisory Planning Board, in a report to council, recommended that the city ask for disapproval of the permit on the grounds that a free-standing sign was not shown on the approved site plan. APB suggested that a revised site plan should be submitted by the owners for review.

In additional comments, APB urged that El Torito's follow the example of other restaurants in the center, such as Denny's, Jasper's, and Wendy's, which do not have freestanding signs. If a sign is approved however, the APB recommended that it should be of reduced height, more in proportion to the 4½-foot height recommended for the Exxon sign.

City Manager James Giese told council that representatives of El Torito's had asked that council not act on the matter of the sign until its regular meeting on November 2, when the restaurant will have someone present to speak to the issue. Accordingly, council accepted the APB report, but deferred discussion.

Block Grant Funds

City Manager Giese told council that the city must decide whether it wishes, during the next three fiscal years, to continue to obtain Community Development Block Grant funding through Prince Georges County. The alternative would be for the city to seek to receive funds as an individual community from federal allocations made to the State of Maryland.

Giese told council in his written comments, "Although the city has had problems in receiving funds through the county, it is my belief that the chances of being funded are still better with the county than in the city making it alone." Council accepted Giese's evaluation, and authorized him to execute a commitment agreement with the county.

In another action involving block grant funds, council appropriated $129,000 so that engineering design work can be started for road reconstruction improvements on Ridge Road from Southway to Gardenway. Giese told council he hopes this project can be bid on next spring for construction during the summer.

CITY NOTES

The Greenbelt Lions Club recently donated a new double tier water cooler to the Youth Center. Valued at over $400, it replaces the 20 year old unit which was originally furnished by the Greenbelt Lions when the Center opened in 1961. An appropriate commemorative plaque has been installed in appreciation of the club's gift.

Members of the building maintenance crew relocated partitions and doors in the City Manager's office and the Finance office. Routine maintenance was done on all city buildings.

A leak developed in the water line between the JayCee Clubhouse and the water meter at Center School. The water has been turned off at the Clubhouse until the leak can be repaired.

The Bureau of Fisheries for the State of Maryland checked on the progress of bass they had stocked in Greenbelt Lake in the Spring. The bass, some up to 8 inches in length, are growing satisfactorily. The Lake was stocked with 800 catfish fingerlings recently.

The parks crew planted tulip bulbs in the city flowerbeds. Maintenance was done on the ballfields and golf course. Several members of the crew worked on landscaping the driveway to the city cemetery. The chipper was out for one day.

The general crew patched Ridge Road between the 1 Court and Westway Road. This section of roadway was also widened along the south side. Roadway shoulders were patched on Gardenway Road at Ridge Road. Storm basins were cleaned. Several members of the crew landscaped the approaches to the new Lake Park bridge with crushed stone and topsoil.
